Welcome to the 2011 Biennial International Conference of the Inter-University Seminar on Armed Forces and Society, held on the 51st year of our founding by Morris Janowitz. The scholarship presented here is of exceptionally high quality and deals with the most important issues of military professionalism and relations between the military and society. This is an excellent time to renew old acquaintances, make new ones, and, if you are not yet a Fellow of the IUS, to join us. The registration staff will be happy to assist you with this.

At our banquet on Friday evening, we will present the Morris Janowitz Career Achievement Award to two distinguished IUS Fellows, Mady Wechsler Segal and Christopher Dandeker. They join previous Janowitz Award recipients Sam C. Sarkesian, Charles C. Moskos, David R. Segal, Moshe Lissak, James Burk, and Bernard Boëne. Our keynote speaker will be Peter W. Singer, a senior fellow in Foreign Policy at the Brookings Institute and director of the 21st Century Defense Initiative. His latest book is Wired for War: The Robotics Revolution and Conflict in the 21st Century.

In addition to our regular panels, there are several roundtables, including a series of thematic panels marking the tenth year since the attacks of September 11, 2001 and another on national resilience. Cadets from the Royal Military College of Canada and ROTC and NROTC cadets and midshipmen from the Chicago area, many of whom are assisting with registration, join us for the conference.

As always, this conference has many rising scholars presenting their work, including a number of graduate students. We encourage them to join the IUS as Student Fellows and urge faculty members to subsidize the minimal Fellowship fees of their best students. Please encourage scholars at all levels to become IUS Fellows and to submit their work to Armed Forces & Society, the premier journal in our field.

I thank you for your participation in our Conference and for your support of our organization. IUS Fellows form an interdisciplinary and international college of scholars dedicated to the highest standards of social science research on issues of the armed forces and society. Please let us know at the Secretariat (secretariat@iusafs.org) or contact me personally (jwillia@luc.edu) if we can be of professional assistance to you. Meanwhile, I look forward to seeing you at the conference sessions, the Banquet, and the President’s Reception Saturday evening.

Christopher Dandeker

Christopher Dandeker holds the only chair in Military Sociology in the UK in the Department of War Studies at King’s College London. After receiving his BSc and PhD degrees in Sociology at Leicester, he moved to King’s in 1990. With Simon Wessely (from the Institute of Psychiatry at King’s), he co-founded and became co-Director of the King’s Centre for Military Health Research.

His research interests focus on: the changing character of war and the role of the military; military health and well-being; recruitment, retention, and resettlement of military personnel; civil-military relations, etc.

Dandeker has co-authored and edited five books, the most recent of which is Les Armees en Europe, as well as written numerous journal articles and book chapters. He has served as an independent member of the UK’s Defence Science Advisory Council and is currently working on a project funded by the UK’s Economic and Social Research Council.

Mady Wechsler Segal

Mady Wechsler Segal earned her Ph.D. at the University of Chicago. She is Professor Emerita of Sociology at the University of Maryland, where she has been Distinguished Scholar Teacher, faculty affiliate of the Women’s Studies Department, Associate Director of the Center for Research on Military Organization, and Associate Dean for Undergraduate Studies.

She has served as chair of the Scientific Advisory Committee for the U.S. Army Research Institute’s Army Family Research Program, as a member of the National Academy of Sciences Committee on the Performance of Military Personnel.

Segal’s research on military personnel issues has focused on military women, military families, and race/ethnicity in the military. She is the author of many scholarly articles and reports for military leaders and policy makers, including What We Know About Army Families: 2007 Update and How to Support Families during Overseas Deployments: A Sourcebook for Service Providers.
Peter Warren Singer is Senior Fellow and Director of the 21st Century Defense Initiative at the Brookings Institution. He is the youngest scholar named Senior Fellow in Brookings's 90-year history. He has been named by CNN to their "New Guard" List of the Next Generation of Newsmakers, by the Smithsonian Institution-National Portrait Gallery as one of the 100 “leading innovators in the nation,” and by Foreign Policy Magazine to their Top 100 Global Thinkers List, of the people whose ideas most influenced the world that year. In his personal capacity, Singer served as coordinator of the Obama-08 campaign's defense policy task force, as a consultant for the US Department of Defense and FBI, and has advised a host of entertainment programs, including the video game series Call of Duty and Metal Gear Solid, movies like Traitor, Whistleblower, Line of Sight, and Battleship, and the TV series The West Wing, 24, Curiosity, and Strikeback.

Dr. Singer is considered one of the world's leading experts on changes in 21st century warfare. He was named by the President to Joint Forces Command's Transformation Advisory Group. He is a columnist for Armed Forces Journal and has written for the full range of major media and journals, including the L.A. Times, New York Times, Washington Post, Foreign Affairs, Current History, Survival, International Security, Parameters, Weltpolitik, etc. He has been quoted in every major U.S. newspaper and news magazine and delivered talks at venues ranging from the U.S. Congress to over 60 universities around the world. He has provided commentary on military affairs for nearly every major TV and radio outlet, including ABC-Nightline, Al Jazeera, BBC, CBS-60 Minutes, CNN, FOX, NPR, and the NBC Today Show. He was a founding organizer of the U.S.-Islamic World Forum, a global conference that brings together leaders from across the US and the Muslim world.

Singer received his Ph.D. in Government from Harvard University and a BA from the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs at Princeton University.

If you are not yet a Fellow of the Inter-University Seminar on Armed Forces and Society, we welcome your interest and invite you to join. Please speak with a senior staff member at the Conference Registration area.

Our dues are reasonable, and there are several options available, including two and three-year reduced rates, life membership, and student dues.

New Fellows’ dues accepted on site during the course of the Conference will be applied to 2012 (and onward if you elect to remit more than a single year’s fee at this time). Payment can be made by credit card, check or in cash.

Fellowship benefits include discounted registration fees at IUS Conferences, a subscription to the quarterly Armed Forces & Society, recognized as the premier journal in the field, on-line access to SAGE Publications’ full-text journals in Sociology and Political Science — and affiliation with a worldwide network of professionals who share your interests.
